He was taught to ring at Holbeach, rang his early peals in Lincolnshire and retained his love of Lincolnshire as his 'home' county throughout his life. He was one of several 1,000 pealers to have attended Spalding Grammar School. He worked for many years at Imperial Institute, University of London.

News from around the Branches:

The young ringers enjoyed a day out, ringing at Winterton followed by picnic lunch, football in the Humber Park and then ice skating in Hull. A pub meal rounded off a great day.
